

Nursing Care Insurance (Kaigo-Hoken)

■ Summary

Due to the progress of aging in Japan, there has been an increase of elderlies requiring nursing care due to conditions such as dementia and becoming bedridden. In addition, the aging of nurses and extended period of nursing care required has created a difficult situation for families to give adequate care for their elderlies.

In light of these circumstances, this is an insurance aimed to help elderlies who require nursing care to be able to live more independently without relying on others as stated under the national law.
